RASANTER

THE RASANTER CONCEPT

RASANTER rubbers have confidently established themselves amongst world class players in many tournaments and stood up with top marks in international tests.

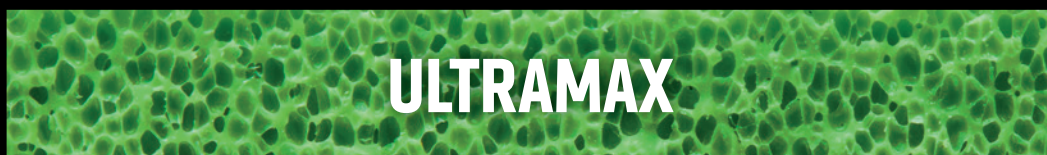

High-end rubbers generally require high level of technical skills and have previously been set for the technically upper class. With the introduction of the RASANTER series, we took a new different approach right from the start.

All RASANTER family rubbers are based on the same top technology, but cover a wide range with finely graduated degrees of hardness in terms of control. The goal is that ambitious players of differering technical levels can benefit from the RASANTER technology. In particular, the RASANTER versions with lower degrees of hardness are an enrichment for players of all classes due to the high performance potential.

ULTRAMAX

With the sponge thickness ULTRAMAX, RASANTER enters new dimensions. With a thickness of 2.3 mm the sponge is the thickest modern TENSOR sponge so far, made in Germany. By reducing the thickness of the rubber surface, additional volume is provided and paves the way for huge rebound power. This is the ultimate answer to the loss of speed by the 40+ ball!

-  More dense cell structures provide power and compact, direct playing feel
-  Smaller pores lead to weight reduction due to less needed glue for assembling
-  ULTRAMAX = more sponge = more power
